Mac's Gold Abel Tasman Coastal Classic 2005

Race Results

Saturday's 12th Abel Tasman Coastal Classic again lived up to its reputation as one of the countries premier trail running events.

Perfect conditions, clear skies, calm seas and playful dolphins for the trip to Awarao followed by a 33km coastal track course back to Marahau with out a hint of mud.

Carline Thomas (Wtgn) recorded the 'run of the day' - posting a new overall women's 2hours 52minutes 05seconds record while Canterbury's Philip Causer joined his brother Michael (1997) as a winner of the men's event.

Norman Carrington's (Nelson), 30th overall in 3.18.02 will take some beating for any other over sixty year old in the future.

DOC's 'Pack in Pack Out' policy was certainly adhered to by Wellington's Neil Swaby who sweated it out for the full distance with twenty plus kilos laced to his back. Swaby choosing to carry his tramping pack, including tent, for his run through the park.

Last week electioneering took a backseat for local MP Damien O'Connor as he took time out from the campaign trail eclipsing 4 hours in his longest run for many a year. Vowing to return to this or another Southtop Strider Trail whatever next Saturday's result brings.

Chris Gates, Colin Rolfe and Owen Rowse stood the test and completed their journeys to remain in the 'survivors club'. All three having completed the event every year since it's inception and back to experience the event again was Queenstown's John Knight, the winner of the inaugural event back in 1994 and this year finishing 2nd in the 40-49 age group.
